⁴ Drafts, titles and parts of works, insofar as they are intellectual creations with an individual character, are also protected.

Art. 3 Derivative works

¹ Derivative works are intellectual creations with individual character that are based upon pre-existing works, whereby the individual character of the latter remains identifiable.

² Such works include, in particular, translations as well as audio-visual and other adaptations.

³ Derivative works are protected as works in their own right.

Art. 7 Joint authorship

¹ Where two or more persons have contributed as authors to the creation of a work, copyright belongs to all such persons jointly.

² Unless they have agreed otherwise, they may only use the work with the consent of all authors; consent may not be withheld for reasons contrary to the principles of good faith.

³ Each joint author may independently bring an action for infringement, but may only ask for relief for the benefit of all.

⁴ Where the individual contributions may be separated and there is no agreement to the contrary, each joint author may use his own contribution independently provided such use does not impair the exploitation of the joint work.

Art. 8 Presumption of authorship

¹ Unless proven otherwise, the author is the person whose name, pseudonym or distinctive sign appears on the copies or the publication of the work.

² As long as the author is not named or remains unknown in the case of a pseudonym or a distinctive sign, the person who is the editor of the work may exercise the copyright. Where such person is also not named, the person who has published the work may exercise the copyright.

Chapter 3 Scope of Copyright

Section 1 Relationship of the Author to his Work

Art. 9 Recognition of authorship

¹ The author has the exclusive right to his own work and the right to recognition of his authorship.

² The author has the exclusive right to decide whether, when, how and under what author's designation his own work is published for the first time.

³ A work is considered to be published when it has been made available for the first time by the author, or with his consent, to a large number of persons not constituting a private circle as defined in Article 19 paragraph 1 letter a.

Art. 10 Use of the work

¹ The author has the exclusive right to decide whether, when and how his work is used.

- e. to retransmit works by means of technical equipment, the provider of which is not the original broadcasting organisation, in particular including by wire;
- f.⁶ to make works made available, broadcast and retransmitted perceptible.

³ The author of a computer program also has the exclusive rental right.

Art. 11 Integrity of the work

¹ The author has the exclusive right to decide:

- a. whether, when and how the work may be altered;
- b. whether, when and how the work may be used to create a derivative work or may be included in a collected work.

² Even where a third party is authorised by contract or law to alter the work or to use it to create a derivative work, the author may oppose any distortion of the work that is a violation of his personal rights.

³ It is permissible to use existing works for the creation of parodies or other comparable variations on the work.

⁵ Amended by Art. 2 of the FD of 5 Oct. 2007, in force since 1 July 2008 (AS 2008 2497; BBl 2006 3389).

⁶ Amended by Art. 2 of the FD of 5 Oct. 2007, in force since 1 July 2008 (AS 2008 2497; BBl 2006 3389).

Section 2 Relationship between Authorship and Ownership of Copies of the Work

Art. 12 Principle of exhaustion

¹ Where the author has transferred the rights to a copy of a work or has consented to such a transfer, these rights may subsequently be further transferred or the copy otherwise distributed.

^{1bis} Copies of audio-visual works may not be further transferred or rented as long as the author is thereby impaired in exercising his right of performance (Art. 10 para. 2 let. c).⁷

² Where the author has transferred the rights to a computer program or has consented to such transfer, such a program may subsequently be used or further transferred.

³ Works of architecture that have been constructed may be altered by the owner; Article 11 paragraph 2 remains reserved.

Art. 13 Rental of copies of works

¹ Any person who rents or otherwise makes available for a fee copies of literary or artistic works owes remuneration to the author.

² No obligation to pay remuneration exists for:

- a. works of architecture;
- b. copies of works of applied art;
- c. copies of works rented or lent for a contractually agreed use of copyright.

³ Claims for remuneration may only be asserted by the approved collective rights management organisations (Art. 40 and seq.).

⁴ This Article does not apply to computer programs. The exclusive right under Article 10 paragraph 3 remains reserved.

Art. 13a⁸ Making available of audio-visual works

¹ Any person who lawfully makes an audio-visual work available in such a way that persons may access it from a place and at a time chosen by them owes remuneration to the authors who created the audio-visual work.

² No remuneration is owed if:

- a. the author or their heirs personally exploit the exclusive right to making the work available; or

⁷ Inserted by Art. 36 No 3 of the Film Act of 14 Dec. 2001 (AS 2002 1904; BBI 2000 5429). Amended by No II of the FA of 20 June 2003, in force since 1 April 2004 (AS 2004 1385; BBI 2002 2022 5506).

⁸ Inserted by No I of the FA of 27 Sept. 2019, in force since 1 April 2020 (AS 2020 1003; BBI 2018 591).

- b. the audio-visual work is one of the following:
1. company profile films, industrial films, advertising or promotional films, computer games, services or commissioned works by broadcasting organisations or other works in the field of journalism that are created under an employment contract or that are commissioned,
 2. archived works of broadcasting organisations (Art. 22a),
 3. orphan works (Art. 22b).

³ The right to remuneration is inalienable and unwaivable and only the authors are entitled to claim it; it substitutes any remuneration for the contractually agreed use of the audio-visual work. It may only be asserted by the approved collective rights management organisations.

⁴ Authors of an audio-visual work which was not produced by a person domiciled or with a registered office in Switzerland only have a right to remuneration if the country in which the audio-visual work was produced also provides for a collectively managed remuneration right for authors for the making available of the work.

⁵ This article does not apply to music contained in audio-visual works. The authors of musical works have a right to an equitable share of the proceeds from their collectively managed exclusive rights.

Art. 14 Author's right of access and exhibition

¹ Any person who owns or is in possession of a copy of a work must provide access thereto to the author to the extent necessary for the latter to exercise the copyright and insofar as no legitimate interest of the owner precludes such access.

² The author may require that a copy of the work be lent to him for an exhibition in Switzerland if an overriding interest can be proven.

³ The loan may be subject to the provision of security for the intact return of the copy of the work. Where the copy of the work cannot be returned intact, the author is liable regardless of fault.

Art. 15 Protection against destruction

¹ Where the owner of an original work of which no further copies exist has reason to assume that the author of the work has a legitimate interest in its preservation, he may not destroy the work without first offering to return it to the author. The owner may not request more than the material value of the work.

² Where it is not possible to return the work, the owner must make it possible for the author to reproduce the original in an appropriate manner.

³ For works of architecture, the author only has the right to photograph the work and to require that copies of the plans be handed to him at his own expense.

Chapter 4 Assignment of Rights; Debt Enforcement

Art. 16 Assignment of rights

¹ Copyright is assignable or may be inherited.

² The assignment of a right subsisting in the copyright does not include the assignment of other partial rights, unless such was agreed.

³ The assignment of the ownership of a copy of a work does not include the right to exploit the copyright, even in the case of an original work.

Art. 17 Rights to computer programs

Where a computer program has been created under an employment contract in the course of discharging professional duties and in fulfilling contractual obligations, the employer alone shall be entitled to exercise the exclusive rights of use.

Art. 18 Debt enforcement

The rights referred to in Article 10 paragraphs 2 and 3 and in Article 11 are subject to debt enforcement insofar as the author has already exercised them and the work has already been published with the consent of the author.

Chapter 5 Exceptions to Copyright

Art. 19 Private use

¹ Published works may be used for private use. Private use means:

- a. any personal use of a work or use within a circle of persons closely connected to each other, such as relatives or friends;
- b. any use of a work by a teacher and his class for educational purposes;
- c. the copying of a work in enterprises, public administrations, institutions, commissions and similar bodies for internal information or documentation.

² Persons entitled to make copies of a work for private use may also have them made by third parties subject to paragraph 3; libraries, other public institutions and businesses that make copying apparatus available to their users are also deemed third parties within the meaning of this paragraph.⁹

³ The following are not permitted outside the private sphere defined in paragraph 1 letter a:¹⁰

- a. the complete or substantial copying of a work obtainable commercially;

⁹ Amended by No I of the FA of 5 Oct. 2007, in force since 1 July 2008 (AS 2008 2421; BBI 2006 3389).

- b. the copying of works of art;
- c. the copying of musical scores;
- d. the fixation of recitations, performances or presentations of a work on blank media.

^{3bis} Copies which are made by accessing works that are lawfully made available are neither subject to the restriction of private use under this Article nor are they included in the claims for remuneration under Article 20.¹¹

⁴ This Article does not apply to computer programs.

Art. 20 Remuneration for private use

¹ The use of the work within a circle of persons under Article 19 paragraph 1 letter a does not give rise to a right of remuneration subject to paragraph 3.

² Any person who reproduces works in any manner for private use under Article 19 paragraph 1 letter b or letter c, or any person who does so as a third party under Article 19 paragraph 2 owes remuneration to the author.

³ Any person who produces or imports blank media suitable for the fixation of works owes remuneration to the author for the use of the works under Article 19.

⁴ Claims for remuneration may only be asserted by the authorised collective rights management organisations.

Art. 21 Decoding of computer programs

¹ Any person who has the right to use a computer program may obtain, either personally or through a third party, necessary information on the interfaces by decoding the program code using independently developed programs.

² The interface information obtained by decoding the program code may only be used for the development, maintenance and use of interoperable computer programs insofar as neither the normal exploitation of the program nor the legitimate interests of the owner of the rights are unreasonably prejudiced.

Art. 22 Dissemination of broadcast works

¹ The right to make broadcast works perceptible simultaneously and without alteration or to rebroadcast such works within the framework of the retransmission of a broadcast programme may only be asserted by the authorised collective rights management organisations.

² The retransmission of works by means of technical equipment that is intended to serve a small number of receivers, such as installations in a multiple-family dwelling or in a residential complex, is permitted.

¹¹ Inserted by No 1 of the FA of 5 Oct. 2007, in force since 1 July 2008 (AS 2008 2421; BBl 2006 3389).

³ This Article does not apply to the rebroadcasting of subscription television programmes or of programmes that cannot be received in Switzerland.

Art. 22a¹² Use of broadcasting organisations' archived works

¹ The following rights to archived works of broadcasting organisations' under the Federal Act of 24 March 2006¹³ on Radio and Television may only be asserted by the authorised collective rights management organisations, subject to paragraph 3:

- a. the right to broadcast the unmodified complete archived work or an excerpt thereof;
- b. the right to make available the unmodified complete work, or an excerpt thereof, in such a way that persons may access it from a place or at a time individually chosen by them;
- c. the reproduction rights necessary to exercise the uses under letters a and b.

² A broadcasting organisations' archived work means a work fixed on a phonogram or audio-visual fixation which was created by a broadcasting organisation under its own editorial responsibility and at its own expense or by a third party at the sole request and expense of the broadcasting organisation and which was first broadcast at least ten years previously. In the event that other works or parts of works are integrated into an archived work, paragraph 1 also applies to the assertion of rights to this work or partial work insofar as these do not significantly determine the unique character of the archived works.

³ To the extent that the rights under paragraph 1 and their remuneration are regulated in a contract prior to the first broadcast or within ten years thereafter, the contractual provisions apply exclusively. Paragraph 1 does not apply to the broadcasting organisations' rights under Article 37. The broadcasting organisations and the third parties involved must provide information regarding the contractual agreement to the collective rights management organisation upon request.

Art. 22b¹⁴ Use of orphan works

¹ A work is considered to be orphaned if the holders of the rights to the work remain unknown or cannot be found following an appropriate research effort.

² The rights to the orphan work under Article 10 may only be asserted by authorised collective rights management organisations if the work is used on the basis of a copy of a work which:

- a. is contained in collections held by public or publicly accessible libraries, educational institutions, museums, collections and archives or in archive collections of broadcasting organisations; and ¹² Inserted by No 1 of the FA of 5 Oct. 2007, in force since 1 July 2008 (AS 2008 2421; BBI 2006 3389).

- b. was produced, copied, or made available in Switzerland, or handed over to an institution within the meaning of letter a.

³ Orphan works are considered to be published. If other works or partial works are integrated into an orphan work, paragraph 2 also applies to the assertion of the rights to these works or partial works insofar as these do not significantly determine the unique character of the archived works.

⁴ The rights holders have a right to remuneration for the use of the work. This may not exceed the remuneration provided for in the distribution regulations of the relevant collective rights management organisation for the use of the work.

⁵ Article 43a applies to the use of a larger number of works on the basis of copies of works from collections under paragraph 2 letter a.

⁶ If no rights holders present themselves within 10 years, the proceeds of exploitation, by way of derogation from Article 48 paragraph 2, shall be used in their entirety for social welfare purposes and for the appropriate promotion of culture.

² Subject to the requirements of paragraph 1, the right of reproduction for the purpose of making available may only be asserted by the authorised collective rights management organisations.

Art. 23 Compulsory licence for the manufacture of phonograms

² The Federal Council may waive the requirement of a commercial establishment in Switzerland in the case of nationals of countries granting reciprocity.

¹⁵ Inserted by No 1 of the FA of 5 Oct. 2007, in force since 1 July 2008 (AS 2008 2421; BBl 2006 3389).

³ This article does not apply to the copying of computer programs.

Art. 24e²² Inventories
